

We take action

Part of our culture and thinking is to relate the environment and ecology to the natural surroundings.

In fact, it goes beyond that to the air that we breathe, the skin that we feel and the heart that pumps life in us.

Most probably the human brain is designed neither to calculate nor to internalize the long-term consequences of pollution.

And here lies our role.

We take action in shedding 'spotlights' on aggressive behaviors against nature.

We also act on bringing life to the fossilized minds by inculcating knowledge, compassion and awareness in them.

Raising awareness is as crucial in ecology as it is in society.

We take action in preserving people's health as well as their socioeconomic well-being.

We are already growing the seeds of our actions...

Together we can sow them.

Intellectual , Social, Environmental

Tadi M. Ghanem

GHADI's President

Summary of Ghadi's Activities

■ Implementing ecological awareness in schools and universities in the area from Beirut to Mount-Lebanon, and that is to help in ecological guidance and culture and to support "the Ecological Renaissance" of the public sector and social institutions

■ Further developing the program for the Green Student, Green Teacher, Green School project in collaboration with the ministry of Environment. This project aims at developing a unified and adequate methodology for ecological projects and for the establishment of ecological clubs in the schools, which enhanced the team work in all of the educational, social and governmental institutions, and that led to having the best results

■ Establishing a committee to supervise the use of environmentally sound practices in industries and fuel companies

■ Planting more than five thousand forests and fruitful trees yearly especially in the Mountain, and that is in collaboration with the ministry of Environment and the ministry of Agriculture

■ Organizing Journeys of exploration of different regions in Lebanon and especially to natural reserves

■ Following up on the issue of flu bird and shedding the light on the issue of swine flu in a number of conferences and lectures in schools, universities and with many associations like LIONS and Rotary Clubs in the areas of Beirut and Mount-Lebanon

■ Pursuing the problem of pine diseases.

Establishing and following up on ecological programs with the UNDP (S.O.S. OZONE...)

■ Keeping up-to-date with the problem of the depletion of the Ozone layer and promoting the use of products with no CFCs

■ Organizing elections of class delegates at schools with the aim of establishing democracy in the educational system

■ Celebrating different Ecological and National occasions

■ Attending to the needs of socially-distressed families on some occasion

For more information visit our website

www.ghadi.org

Intellectual , Social, Environmental